

Senate Bill 664 – Financial Institutions Law
Section by Section Conversion Chart

The basis for SB 664 is the final renumbering of the various provisions of the Financial Code that deal with the Department of Financial Institutions and its licensees. While some substantive changes were included in the bill due to the passage of the Dodd-Frank federal legislation and some technical corrections that resulted from earlier amendments to the Code, the majority of the work involved in this bill was to bring some sense to the section numbering in the Code.

The column on the left represents the current Code sections, articles, chapters, and divisions. The column on the right represents the changes to those items. While most of the work is changing the section numbers, we also added some division, chapter and article designation to assist in the organization of the Code. Where there is a new division, chapter or article, the new item will be set forth in the right hand column. However, since these items are new to the Code, there will be nothing designated in the left hand column as being changed. Thus, the left hand column will be empty.
